II) Translate these two texts into French (write here):

Text 1:

The fire which brought the Channel tunnel to a temporary standstill this week has revived fears that travelling through long tunnels, particularly under the sea, is inherently dangerous. After a series of delays in its opening, rail services between the UK and France have grown strongly over the past two and a half years, and the tunnel now accounts for about forty per cent of all Dover-Calais traffic. But this week's events are a setback for the tunnel operators.

Text 2:

A crusade calls for a cause. Left-wingers in the 1960s campaigned for civil rights or against the Vietnam war. Many conservatives, though by no means all, believe that their attempt to change the law on abortion provides them with a cause that is not less rousing than the left-wing causes of 20 years ago. And so, in a way, it does. Abortion is a life-and-death issue about which many people feel passionately.
